WINNIPEG, December 6.

In an interview with Sir John, Mayor Knowles of Prince Albert, said, that the Northwest could not endure national policy, to which Sir John replied that annexation was the only alternative. Knowles replied that he might then expect the Northwest to choose the alternative some day.

A bill has been filed in court here, against the Hudson's Bay Railway Company, by the West Cumberland iron and steel company. The plaintiffs sold bonds of railway to the amount of about one hundred and forty thousand dollars, taken as security for steel rails, and other material furnished. They allege that the railway is insolvent and ask that a receiver be appointed, and the bond holders declared entitled to the first mortgage.

The Port Arthur tax collector seized a C. P. R. engine and seventeen loaded freight cars, for non payment of taxes, and alleged broken promises.

Governor Royal is in Ottawa conferring with the government regarding the Northwest situation. It is understood that Dwyer's bill of last session will be introduced, with some amendments desired by the memorial of the Northwest assembly.

Senator Trudel is dying.

The Hudson's Bay Company's report, states that the recent sale of furs is smaller than last year, owing to distress and mortality among the Indians. Their land sales show improvement.

Don Pedro, has arrived in Portugal, but declines to talk about the revolution in Brazil.

The Minneapolis Tribune building was burned on Saturday night. Seven lives were lost. The pecuniary loss amounts to three hundred thousand dollars.

Friends of A. D. Osborne, in Ottawa and elsewhere, are pressing his claims to the vacant senatorship.

The Hudson's Bay Railway Company have secured an injunction, restraining Holt & Ross from dealing with three hundred and seventy four thousand dollars of bonds, alleging that same were secured by fraud.

Contributions are being asked for the relief of Crofters at Salto Coats.

WINNIPEG, December 6.

Jeff. Davis, the noted rebel leader of the confederates during the American civil war, is dead.

Two hundred and eighty three thousand dollars, have been expended in buildings in Calgary during the past year, and the sale of town lots amounted to two hundred and twenty thousand dollars.

The Toronto Mail says that Royal's conduct in the Northwest has done more than create a deadlock, as it has shaken public confidence in his sagacity.

Sweeping changes in the tariff are expected next session of parliament.

Montreal aldermen are here on a visit.

BATTLEFORD, December 3.

Deer are reported being quite numerous between the rivers, about half way between here and Pitt.

The Dominion grant to the battle river agricultural society has been received, and will be distributed next week.

Tenders for the mounted police cordwood, range from $2.40 to $3 a cord, for half dry.

On Saturday last, November 30th, a couple of ducks flew up the Battle river. It is left to the weatherwise to interpret this movement.

Since the snow fell large numbers of foxes have been taken in this neighborhood. They are more numerous than they have been for some years past.

During the past week Finlayson and Day, and R. G. Speers & Son, took their cattle to their winter feeding grounds, in the basin of Round Hill Lake, on the north side of the Saskatchewan. The bands comprise over 600 head.

Monday last opened with a pretty strong wind from the east, accompanied by a little snow. As the day advanced the quantity of snow increased until the roads were much drifted. Travelling will be heavy for awhile. Yesterday was warm with light wind from the west.

SASKATOON, December 6.

Nearly one hundred head of cattle, owned in the colony, are being wintered at Battle and vicinity.

A most violent storm commenced on Monday and continued throughout the day. Heavy snow drifts and difficult travelling are the results.

Telegraph communication was interrupted for a couple of hours yesterday, by the breaking of the wire that spans the Saskatchewan.

Work on the railway has stopped for the season. Continuous grading has been done to within seven miles of Saskatoon, where a gap of about three miles is left, and the work again taken up within the town limits. Saskatoon traders are having goods brought from Regina over the new railway, to the end of the track, a distance of about 75 miles.

LOCAL.

Curling.

Skating and Tobogganing.

Were the amusements of the week.

W. J. Burns left for Calgary on Wednesday

Dr. Wilson and family were passengers on Monday's stage.

Thos. Stewart and Douglas Petrie left on Sunday for Calgary.

S. B. Lucas, Indian agent at Battle River, was in town during the week.

Mr. Frank Oliver flew to Toronto this week, and is not expected home until near Christmas.

W. S. Robertson and John Brown left on a shooting expedition to Deep Creek, on Monday.

The new trail opened up last summer, to the Sturgeon by Turnip Lake, is being well travelled this winter, and is the best one to the Landing.

R. Toner, of Clover Bar, left on Thursday's stage for Calgary to meet his brother, who is expected in.

A. Griffin and A. H. Anthony left on Friday for Egg Lake for the purpose of selecting a good location for a cattle ranche, which will be stocked next summer.

The sleighing is not very good around the town, and there is none at all south of the Peace Hills farm, but north towards the Landing there is more snow than here.

W. G. Ibbotson arrived from the Landing on last Saturday. He reports more snow north than there is here. He had to break the roads from the Landing to within a few miles from town.

A. Norris has bought out the interest of Geo. Lee in the butcher business, hitherto carried on under the name of Wilson & Lee. The new firm will henceforth be known as Wilson & Norris.

Jas. McDonald drove out to the Sturgeon on Thursday to inspect the timber for the Sturgeon bridge being built on the Landing trail on Northwest government account. The inspection was very satisfactory the timber all being of prime quality.

The Athabasca river finally froze over on Tuesday, November 26th. J. Hislop in attempting to cross on foot the day before, broke through the ice, but the water being only about four feet deep, he got out without much difficulty. That night however the ice thickened sufficiently to make crossing safe the next day.

The head of a woodcock was brought in from the Landing by W. G. Ibbotson. It was shot by Mr. Hislop, on the Athabasca, and is the first one known to have been shot in the country. One or two of these birds were seen some years ago, about 60 miles up the Saskatchewan from Edmonton, by lumbermen, but none were secured. The one shot the other day, was about the size of a partridge, with red markings on the head. It occupied a hole, about a foot in diameter, in a tree and attracted attention by its unusual noise. The body was too badly torn by the shot, to make it possible to stuff it.

The Calgary Herald in commenting on the charter for the Calgary and Edmonton railway says what the country wants is railroads, not charters. That the failure in the past to build the roads projected north was owing to the want of funds, and funds will not be forthcoming without a land grant, and a land grant will not likely be given to more than one line running north, and the Northwestern has that now. It claims that this is the golden opportunity for the C. P. R. to secure the territory. As for the people of Edmonton their eyes are turned east and not south for a glimpse of the iron horse—although if one did come in first from Calgary it would be none the less welcome.

The Dominion Illustrated for November 23rd, opens with a full page photo of J. G. Cleghorn, president of the Montreal board trade. Good photos are given of the late Hon. Alex. Morris; the late Hon. H. J. Clarke; the late Senator Turner; and the late W. P. Powell. It also contains views of the University of New Brunswick, of the Eastern Townships Editors Association, sketches of the Sham fight in Toronto and an engraving entitled the "Baby Show." This number fully sustains the reputation the magazine has gained for a high class illustrated periodical.

One L. M. Boscowitch of New York, writes to the Calgary Tribune for all possible information about Alberta, from the boundary to the north. The object is to write up in the great New York dailies the far west of Canada. Calgary and the great ranches will receive special attention, but information about all places north and south is asked for. The gentleman says his object is to bring the resources of the country before the great metropolis of New York in such a manner that a large amount of its capital will find its way into the country. If the idea is carried out the writer should make a point to secure information about the north as well as the south, and not make the fatal mistake of taking the Calgary country as representative of the whole of Alberta.

The monthly meeting of the curling club was held in their room on Friday evening. Dr. H. C. Wilson, president, in the chair. There was a full attendance and considerable business transacted. It was resolved to commence the seasons series of games on Monday, December 16th, and all rinks to report for play Saturday the 14th. Several accounts were passed and ordered to be paid. A handsome medal to be competed for by individual play, and to become the property of the winner, was presented by Mr. Carey, the Patron of the club. Thos. Stewart was elected as a club skip in place of Jas. Johnston, resigned. A communication was read from the secretary of the Manitoba branch of the R. C. C., containing congratulations on the large membership and good standing of the club, and stating that Edmonton is to be known as district No. 9, and to compete by points play for district medals. Several new members were received and two more volunteer rinks reported, composed of W. Price, J. A. Belden, Jos. Kelly, and A. Coghan skip; P. Daly, F. Kernohan, G. J. Kinnaird and W. G. Ibbotson skip.

Cattle raising is getting to be one of the leading industries of this district. The ranches are mostly small ones, and are likely to continue so, as it would be unwise for any one to have more cattle than he can house and feed during the severe months of winter. The herds are composed of from 25 to 150 head, and are mostly owned by men engaged in mixed farming who combine stock raising with grain growing. And there is no crop the farmer raises that is surer, and can so readily be turned into money, as cattle. The business of cattle raising, while it cannot be engaged in here on such a large scale as in those districts of the country where the cattle can pasture out all winter, is a more sure and profitable one, as food and shelter being always provided for them, the losses are a mere nothing, and the gain in this way, more than makes up for the extra expense of providing feed, and caring for them. Cattle here come through a severe winter looking as well as though the season was mild, and any calves born during the winter are housed and cared for instead of being lost by cold and exposure. And further by ever farmer having a herd of cattle on his farm the numbers will be as great in a given area as in the southern country, when large areas are held by a ranchman or company, for their stock to range over. In the Beaver Hills, at Egg Lake, along the Black Mud, in the vicinity of Sandy Lake, are some of the finest pasture and hay lands to be found anywhere. It is the custom for some of the farmers around Edmonton, to cut and stack hay at Sandy Lake, and winter their cattle there, on account of the abundance of good hay and water to be found there. At the present time there are about 500 head of cattle in the vicinity of the lake, and there is no doubt that the other districts named, will be the feeding grounds for numerous small herds of cattle, owned by farmers who will occupy the farming lands in and around the vicinity. Another advantage small ranches have over large ones is in the country becoming more thickly settled by families and individuals who will be able to organize schools and churches, which would be almost impossible where the ranches are large.

Ex-Judge Jellett, father of St. Geo. Jellett of Clover Bar, died recently at Picton, Ontario.

Mr. John Livingstone, late editor of the Toronto Empire, takes charge of the editorial department of the Calgary Herald on December 2nd.

The total amount of surplus crop in Manitoba, is estimated at not more than 5,000,000 bushels.

CURLING.

St. Andrew's Day was a field day for the curlers. The weather was favorable, and the rink was crowded all day, by the lovers of the roaring game, and many spectators. During the week the interest has increased, and the indications are that a pleasant season's sport will follow the successful opening of the curling season. Many new players tried their hand for the first time on Saturday. The following is the result of the weeks contests between the different rinks.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, DDC. 7, 1889.

SCHOOL QUESTION.

The Sun of Winnipeg, some time ago sent out circulars to leading men throughout the province, asking their opinions on the public questions now agitating the people. The questions were, First, Are you in favor of the abolition of the French as an official language? Second, Are you in favor of the abolition of Separate Schools? Third, Are you in favor of a system of purely national schools secular in character? About seventy answers were received, and of these, only two answered, no, to the first question, the opinion being practically unanimous that the French language ought to go as an official language; to the second question, there were four in favor of Separate Schools and the rest were for their abolition. On the third question opinions were more varied. There were ten negative answers, about twenty-two would like to see national schools with some form of religious exercise to suit all denominations. Some of these however would prefer secular school to the present system, if no alternative could be found; while twenty-nine gave decided answers in favor of national secular schools. It would appear from this that the government will have strong backing in carrying out its programme. There can be no doubt that this question is taking a strong hold upon the minds of the people of Canada. Men of all classes are thinking about it, and studying over it as they never did before, and it is safe to conclude, that the outcome of this will be advantageous to the country. If we desire to build up a strong nation, having a national sentiment, that will be purely Canadian, the work must be done in our Public Schools. Associations are formed there that are more binding than any other, and a united people can only be formed by one system of common schools, where the same course of study is pursued by all, and when every child, no matter whether white, black, or red; British, French, or German, can meet on common ground, and feel that, if no where else, in the school at least, the only line of division is that created by merit and ability. This is an impossibility in any community, when there are two sets of schools, in many of which the language used in one is not the same as that used in the other. Looked at from a purely national, patriotic, point of view, there can be no question that it would infinitely help to create a national sentiment to have only one set of schools, that would be purely national. If no other consideration than this entered into the question, the opinion would no doubt be practically unanimous in favor of the abolition of the Separate School system. But unfortunately, there is another question that must be considered by any one who attempts to settle our educational system, on a permanent and enduring basis, and that is the religious question. A large number of Canadians belong to a church that claim as a matter of conscience that the secular training in the schools should be linked with religious teaching, and even the latter take the precedence. Whether this is a proper view to take or not, is not now under consideration. We have the fact that it exists, and that to a large extent. Furthermore, this view is not held by the Roman Catholics only, but many leading divines among Protestants claim, that the Bible and its ethical and religious teachings should not be ignored in the schools of our land, and so while many of them contend for purely national schools, they demand that religious teaching and exercises, form part of the work during school hours. The difference between them however, and their Roman Catholic fellow citizens is that, the latter claim that the church and it alone, should have charge of this part of the education of the children; while the former would be satisfied with religious services, non-sectarian, and agreeable to all classes. Such a basis might be found on which all Protestant churches might unite, but one cannot be found that would suit both Protestants and Roman Catholics, and there has been no hope held out by the latter during the whole controversy that any religious exercise, except one formed and controlled by themselves would be accepted, and this the other churches would not agree to. From this then it is plain that only one of two systems is possible, and that is either separate or secular schools. If in a system of national schools, religious instruction is to be provided for and given, then it will be necessary to insist on the teachers being properly qualified on this as in any other branch taught in the schools. And not only should they be in possession of the necessary knowledge, but would need to be men and women of good moral and religious lives as well. The instruction given should be of such a nature as to command the respect and assent of the children. In probably nine cases out of ten, the so called religious exercises in our public schools foster irreverence, instead of reverence, in the child, and do in this way more harm than they do good. The religious life of Canada would certainly be very low of it depended on the religious instruction given in the school. We have to thank Godly mothers and fathers, and live church agencies, for the high position Canadians take as a religious people. The work properly belongs to the home and church, which agencies have done the work in the past and will have to do it in the future. What is required in Canada, and what will yet prevail, is a purely national secular school system where the children of the land will be trained in mental culture, and useful practical knowledge; either that, or else Separate Schools not only for Roman Catholic, but for any church or class that demand the privilege of massing their children in schools, where their peculiar views and doctrines can be instilled into their minds, to the neglect of the training and knowledge necessary to equip for the hard, practical duties of life.

ASSEMBLY NOTES.

Mr. Haultain presented a report of the special committee on the Northwest bill, introduced and withdrawn, by Mr. Dewdney in the Dominion parliament.

The amendments to the bill made in committee of the whole, were, to dispense with the sitting of legal experts with the assembly. That the term of the assembly should four years instead of three; that the appointments of sheriffs and clerks of court, be given to the local government, with the power given to the assembly to regulate their fees; that the power of appointing justices of the peace, should be left with the lieutenant governor, and not to be given to the governor general in council, as proposed; and the power to prescribe qualifications and regulations concerning them be with the assembly; the property of all road allowances, trails, non navigable rivers and streams, with power to construct, should be vested in the government of the Territories; the repeal of the section regarding the use of the French language; and that the provisions with regard to prohibition, and other clauses contained in section 110 of the bill, should not be amended by the Dominion government, but remain the same as now, until the power conferred by this section is exercised by the assembly. The agricultural committee report recommends the granting of second homesteads, to those desiring them, who entered the Territories while the second homestead law was in force, and that the right of pre-emption be extended beyond January 1st, 1890. The report was adopted and embodied in a memorial to the minister of the interior.

Mr. Cayley's motion to have two members of the house appointed to advise with the lieutenant governor, instead of an advisory board, for the purpose of tiding over the difficulty, until the question between the assembly and the governor is settled, was carried by a vote of 12 to 8.

A long resolution rehearsing the struggle between the governor and the assembly, was passed by the same vote, and asking the lieutenant governor to transmit it to Ottawa by telegram.

A memorial was sent to the Dominion government asking that a grant of land for university purposes be set apart in the districts of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Assiniboia, to be selected at once, and available when needed.

The memorial on responsible government and finances as passed through the house, asks for full control over all monies granted by the Dominion house to the Territories; that the advisory board be paid, and that the governor be not a member of it; and that there should be a fixed payment yearly in the form of a subsidy, the amount to be determined by the considerations named in the memorial. The total annual subsidy asked for is $480,850, for five years.

The following bills were read a third time and passed. The bill amending the judicature ordinance; hides, mortgages and sales of personal property; amending the school ordinance; amending the municipal ordinance; amending the legal profession bill, the property of married women; and amending the interpretation ordinance.

The following resolutions and reports, adopted during the session, were ordered to be transmitted to the proper quarters. Resolution on gophers; seed grain; second homesteads; pre-emption; tree planting; the granting of magisterial powers to police officers; prairie fires; immigration passes; and grants for immigration purposes.

The house adjourned on Friday at 3 o'clock.

The prospectus of the Canadian Dead Meat company was issued in London, on November 23rd. The capital of the company is $300,000 pounds sterling, ordinary shares. The object is to develop trade in Canadian dead meat. The directors are fairly strong including the Lord Mayor's firm. Sir Hector Langevin is on the Canadian board of management. The investment of British capital in the Canadian meat business will help to increase and develop this industry, that promises to become the leading one of Canada. Our western ranches will ultimately prove the main source of the meat supply for the mother country. Canadian cattle now are preferred before any other foreign importation in the British market, and by guarding against disease in cattle, and encouraging the development of the export trade in dead meat, this business will soon assume gigantic proportions and prove an exceedingly lucrative one for our cattlemen.

At the annual meeting of the missionary committee of the Manitoba and Northwest Conference of the Methodist church held at Portage la Prairie recently, the grants to the different missions were made. The sum placed at their disposal by the general board, was $31,900. This is distributed through the Conference, the larger amounts being given to the missions in the extreme points of the territories. The minimum salary for a married ordained man, will be a little over $600.
